

REASONS HUMBLY SHEWING, THAT The Continuing the ACT for a FREE TRADE IN THE Woollen Manufacture of England ; With an Exception of the Rivers Elve, Weser and Eyder, Will make the BILL of no Effect.

THE Dutch have Prohibited all Dyed Woollen Manufactures ; and all other Woollen Manufactures may be Carried into Germany thorow the Rivers Elve and Weser, sooner and cheaper by Eight Pounds per Cent. than thorow Holland.

The chief Design of endeavouring the Continuance of the Act For a Free Trade in the Woollen Manufacture, was to have a Liberty to carry the same into Germany, without interruption thorow the Rivers Elve and Weser; because no Man can send any of the Woollen Manufactures thither any other way but with losf.

The Hamborough Company though they desire the Rivers Elve, Weser, and Eyder to themselves, yet they are under Contract with the City of Hamborough not to send any Goods into Germany, but to Hamborough only thorow the River Elve; and do not use the Rivers Weser and Eyder, as the Governour of the said Company lately confess : And if they shall have the Rivers Elve, Weser, and Eyder to themselves, they will wholly Obstruct a Free Trade in English Cloth, Serges, Sayes, Stuffs, and Stockings; the Consequence whereof will quickly be felt by the Gentry and Clothiers of this Kingdom, and all others concerned in the Working of Wooll in England.

In the Reign of the late King James, the Hamborough Company Fined one John Loveroe a Member of their Company, Three hundred and seventy five Pounds, only for sending English Cloth into Germany, thorow the River Weser, which he actually paid; and if the Bill pass into an Act, with an Exception of the Rivers Elve, Weser, and Eyder, the same instead of giving a Free Liberty of Buying and Exporting the Woollen Manufacture of this Kingdom, will be a Prohibition of Trading therein to Germany, and contrary to several Statutes now in force.

The Act for a Free Trade in the Woollen Manufacture was made upon a Complaint of

Will make the BILL of no Effect.

THE Dutch have Prohibited all Dyed Woollen Manufactures ; and all other Woollen Manufactures may be Carried into Germany thorow the Rivers Elve and Wefer, sooner and cheaper by Eight Pounds per Cent. than thorow Holland.

The chief Design of endeavouring the Continuance of the Act For a Free Trade in the Woollen Manufacture, was to have a Liberty to carry the same into Germany, without interruption thorow the Rivers Elve and Wefer; because no Man can send any of the Woollen Manufactures thither any other way but with losf.

The Hamborough Company though they desire the Rivers Elve, Wefer, and Eyder to themselves, yet they are under Contract with the City of Hamborough not to send any Goods into Germany, but to Hamborough only thorow the River Elve; and do not use the Rivers Wefer and Eyder, as the Governour of the said Company lately confess : And if they shall have the Rivers Elve, Wefer, and Eyder to themselves, they will wholly Obstruct a Free Trade in English Cloth, Serges, Sayes, *Stuff*s, and Stockings; the Consequence whereof will quickly be felt by the Gentry and Clothiers of this Kingdom, and all others concerned in the Working of Wooll in England.

In the Reign of the late King James, the Hamborough Company Fined one John Loveroe a Member of their Company, Three hundred and seventy five Pounds, only for sending English Cloth into Germany, thorow the River Wefer, which he actually paid; and if the Bill pafs into an Act, with an Exception of the Rivers Elve, Wefer, and Eyder, the same instead of giving a Free Liberty of Buying and Exporting the Woollen Manufacture of this Kingdom, will be a Prohibition of Trading therein to Germany, and contrary to several Statutes now in force.

The Act for a Free Trade in the Woollen Manufacture, was made upon a Complaint of the Clothiers of England, of the Deadness of their Trade, and was to continue only Three Years, as an Experiment; and it had so good Effect, that from the Port of London onely, as was lately proved, there was Exported of the Woollen Manufacture of England to Germany, and the Places adjacent, the Value of Four hundred thousand Pounds, and more, over and above what was exported in the Three Years before, when the Trade was interrupted by the Hamborough Company. And great Encrease was during the Three Years, the Trade was open from other Ports: But by reason no Persons were in Town to prove the Extracts taken out of the said Ports, the same was ommitted. And since a Free Trade thorow the Rivers Elve, Wefer, and Eyder, hath been so Beneficial to Their Majesties, and to the Gentry and Clothiers of this Kingdom, it is humbly hoped, that the said Act for a Free Trade will be Continued, without any Exception of the Rivers Elve, Wefer and Eyder; because such an Exception amounts not only to a Prohibition, but also to a Confirmation of the said Company's Charter.